WAR ON ILLITERACY IN SPAIN

Former Boy Scouts to Start Campaign Throughout Country for Education.

Madrid. — Former boy scouts in Spain have decided to inaugurate a campaign throughout the country to combat the prevalent illiteracy.

The resolution founding a society just formed for that purpose says: "We consider the existence in Spain of 60 per cent of the population who can neither read nor write constitutes a veritable scandal for the nation. After carefully analyzing the problem we have reached the conclusion that a modicum of good will on the part of the governing classes would be sufficient to solve it."

The society resolved to form free classes in every big city, where boys will be given instruction in the elements of reading, writing and arithmetic. Later similar classes are to be started for adults of both sexes. The teachers will be chosen from volunteers among educated people, and the society hopes to enlist the services also of professional teachers from the national schools to give instruction in the evening.

A PRETTY GEISHA GIRL

Kyoto, Japan, is noted for its many beautiful geisha girls. This fair maid of old Japan poses prettily for the camera man. Note the quaint head-dress and beautiful obi, or sash worn by the young lady. These sashes very often cost as much as a thousand dollars.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS TO AID

Ready to Forget Past to Help in Future, Reply of University Professors.

Berlin.—German university professors and members of the reichstag have drawn up a reply to the appeal for re-establishment of the "friendly intercourse" which existed before the war which the professors and doctors of Oxford university recently addressed to professors of arts and sciences and members of universities and learned societies in Germany and Austria.

"Science knows only one aim—the search after truth—and it requires for the performance of this task the common labor of all, regardless of national boundaries," says the German reply. "The war interrupted this joint labor and dissolved many personalities. We are ready to resume these connections and by common labor to relegate to oblivion everything offensively spoken or written in both camps."

Wife Has Beld Stepson; Husband Seeking Divorce

Asking annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Eugenia F. Thompson, Dr. Charles E. Hancock of New York city told the court he had believed her when she said she was about his own age, thirty. She told him, he said, that she had a "small son" out West, where she had divorced her first husband.

The doctor said when he met the "small son" he found a man of his own age and bald headed.

Making the Veterans Feel at Home.

Bentleyville, Ky.—World war veterans thought they were back in the Argonne when a pitched battle was fought on local streets. Three men were using their guns and only one bystander was hit. He was Harry Jackson, aged 42, who received a death wound. Sam Allen, released on bond after being arrested on a charge of killing his brother-in-law, was shot four times. Homer McDonald was shot in the leg, while Charles Brink, town marshal, who joined in the fray, escaped unhurt. McDonald and Allen were fighting a duel when the officer tried to stop it with his own shot. No one knows who shot Jackson.

LEES THE BOLSHEVISTS

Miss Grace Arnold of Portland, Ore., has reached Washington after stirring adventures in stricken Poland. Miss Arnold, a young woman lawyer, who before sailing with a relief unit of the American Red Cross was secretary to Judge Hunt of the United States circuit court of appeals, saw service in hospital camps at Le Val d'Audon and Brest before her experience of one year at the Polish front. On the evacuation of Minsk, Miss Arnold accompanied the refugees in their flight to Warsaw. The Bolsheviks were on their heels and terror was increased by a train wreck about ten kilometers out of Minsk.

WAS PRISONER, GETS MEDAL

Sergt. Halyburton, Captured by Germans, Cited for Services in World War.

Washington.—Edgar N. Halyburton of Taylorsville, N. C., who, during the World war, was a sergeant in Company F, Sixteenth Infantry, enjoys the unique distinction of having a Distinguished Service Medal awarded him for services performed while a prisoner in Germany.

Sergt. Halyburton's citation, made public by the War department, says that the sergeant, while a prisoner in the hands of the German government from November, 1917, to November, 1918, voluntarily took command of the different camps in which he was located, and, under difficult conditions, established administrative and personal headquarters, organized the men into units, billeted them systematically, established distribution of supplies and established an intelligence service to prevent our men from giving information to the enemy and prevented the enemy from introducing propaganda.

QUIT CIGARS: DUTY TOO HIGH

British Public Also Cuts Down on Champagne as Result of High Tax Rate.

London.—Since Chancellor Austen Chamberlain introduced his last budget there has been a marked reduction in the retail sale of champagne and cigars in England.

Cigar merchants say that during the recent months clearances from bond and importations from Cuba have practically been suspended. The public, it is stated, refuse to buy at the high prices necessitated by the heavy duty and the inflated cost of the tobacco.

In 1914 a really good Havana cigar could be bought at 40 shillings to 50 shillings a hundred, but today the cost is more than 75 a hundred.

Wine merchants are a little surprised at the decline in the sale of champagne, as prices have not been substantially increased. In many cases growers have shouldered a part of the duty imposed by the budget in the hope of maintaining the English demand.

HORSEWHIPPED HER RIVAL

Actress Lured Girl Who "Vamped" Her Husband to Stage Entrance, and Then Beat Her.

New York.—Her plans to Miss Berntha Mackie "not to break up her home" proving of no avail, Mrs. Katherine O'Brien, 24 years old, an actress, appearing with her husband in an elephant act at the Hippodrome, New York city, produced a horsewhipping and, during Miss Mackie to the stage entrance, lashed her rival about the face and body in the presence of a large crowd.

Mrs. O'Brien was freed by Magistrate Levine when she told how Miss Mackie had attempted to "vamp" her husband at a party and how the girl had declared she intended going after Mr. O'Brien because, as she said, he loved her.

Notes East Airplane.

Covered Rapidly, Ex.—When Charles Zydell, a Lake City, Ill., aviator, came to Green Rapids, parked his airplane in a pasture and went to see a bull. When he failed to take into consideration a bunch of sheep-tail mules standing in the pasture. Two hours later, when he returned, he discovered that the mules had eaten it up. Zydell had to borrow money to go back home. The mules ate the wings, twisted the propeller and kicked the propeller and left it for the airplane with only about $1,000.

What, Indeed!

Public's mother said she also had had a letter from her son who had been in the hospital with a serious case of pneumonia, and she was going to go down to see him. She said she was going to go down to see him. She said she was going to go down to see him.

BRIDE, 65, ARRESTS MATE FOR CUSSING

Kansas City Judge Advises Hymenees to Kiss and Make Up.

Kansas City, Mo.—There always must be a first quarrel. And the only way to settle it is to kiss and make up.

Thus did Judge John M. Kennedy, counsel Mrs. Angelina Harris, sixty-five years old, and her husband, J. L. Harris, fifty-nine, honeymooners of three months.

The bride tilted her nose. "Make up!" she exclaimed, "with him cussing all the pots and pans whenever he goes to cook and running away all my boarders."

"Hold on," said Judge Kennedy. "Does he do the cooking?"

"That was the bargain," said Mrs. Harris. "When I married him he was a cook in a boarding house in Oklahoma City, Okla. We put our savings in my rooming house. He was to cook and I was to manage."

Mrs. Harris, who conducts a rooming and boarding house, said she advertised for a husband because she was lonely and because she needed some one to help her run her business. Harris answered it and they were married at the courthouse.

Now Mrs. Harris has had her husband arrested on a charge of disturbing her peace.

"I leave it to you, judge," said Harris. "If any man wouldn't cuss the skillet when he tries to cook?"

Playful Father Tosses Son in Pot of Noodles

San Francisco.—Julius Hess of 520 Natoma street and his son and heir, Maxwell, 3 years old, were in a state of mind that eventually landed both in the Central Emergency hospital. By way of satisfying their playful mood, Hess began to toss little Maxwell into the air, catching him as he came down. A second, a third and even a fourth time Hess tossed Maxwell into the air. It was great sport until the fifth try. Instead of landing in father's arms, little Maxwell landed in a boiling kettle of noodles on the kitchen stove. Maxwell, the kettle and father landed in a heap on the floor, the boiling water scalding both of Hess' feet and one of Maxwell's. The trip to hospital followed.

SCOUT DIES SAVING MOTHER

Four Men Watch Youth Sacrifice His Life and Offer No Assistance.

London.—Ellis Snow, sixteen years old, a boy scout, sacrificed his life to save his mother from drowning.

Ellis, a schoolboy living at Fiddock Wood, had been camping at Lenton, near the Medway river. His mother visited him, and in stepping into a punt to cross the river, Mrs. Snow pushed out the boat and fell in. Ellis immediately sprang into the water and supported her until she was drawn to safety up the steep bank.

The boat had drifted away, and being unable to land easily, the boy tried to swim to the other side of the river. Half way across he sank exhausted.

It was testified at the inquest that four men standing on the bank saw the tragedy, but walked away.

CHILD DIES IN SHAM BATTLE

Casualty Follows Re-enactment at Camp Meade, Md., of Fight in the Argonne.

Camp Meade, Md.—The regular army re-enacted here as a closing feature of the national encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars a detail of the fighting in the Meuse at Argonne.

It was a carefully planned sham battle, but was not without a casualty. Carl Durnsack, a four-year-old boy, was killed by a fragment of a shell from one of the guns used in laying down the miniature barrage.

The eagerness of the crowds to obtain a better view of the operations resulted in groups venturing into the zones of danger. The child who was hit was accompanied by his uncle.

HAS SEIZED GERMAN TRADE

Japan Said to Be Furnishing Practically All of the Buttons Now Used in China.

The style has changed in Manchuria that, just after the establishment of the republic, set many Chinese wearing the garments of the West, and needing naturally western buttons. Such buttons, says Consul General Albert W. Pondina, writing home from Mukden to his government, were imported about equally from Japanese and European manufacturers, but now the Chinese have pretty well gone back to their own style of dress, and the one European garment that still remains popular is the heavy skirt. One no longer needs buttons, except for one's skirt, and these are now chiefly imported from Japan, for the Chinese costume does very well with "frocks." But buttons, no longer seen, are evidently needed somewhere, for in 1919 China imported about $400,000 worth of them, bone buttons, composition buttons, and mother-of-pearl buttons, and about 65 per cent of these buttons were "made in Japan." The war has given Japan almost a monopoly; one might say that Japan buttons China. And so it is, says Consul General Pondina, with readiness to sew the buttons on. Before the war China was importing approximately $300,000 worth of needles a year, chiefly from Germany and Austria; but now the Japanese needle manufacturers control the Chinese market, and that is sad for the Chinese needlewoman or needleman, because the Japanese needles do not keep their sharp points anything like as long as the European needles.—Christian Science Monthly Oil Pipes Are Riddled.

The slugs of oil with which thick oil is moved through the pipes in which it is carried away from the oil fields has given the oil people of California considerable trouble. Mixing it with water was found to improve matters, but there is difficulty of separating the oil and water which at the end of the trip has turned into a emulsion difficult to handle. It has now been found that ridding the inner surface of the pipes has the desired effect in that the friction generates a heat which warms the body of oil and enables it to be moved more readily.

Falconry Still Practiced.

Falconry, known to the Chinese 2,000 B. C., and a popular sport in days of Nimrod and Babylon, 1200 B. C., is still in vogue in certain parts of England. Wild hawks are caught and trained for the sport, and the Illustrated London News recently related how one old Hollander, with two assistants, captured a sufficient number of the sporting birds to keep English sportsmen supplied. The hawks are trapped in decoy pigeons and nets. The latter bear a distinct resemblance to real birds of the American family.

ESCAPE HORROR OF BOLSHEVISM

Canadian Mining Engineer and Wife Tell of Days of Terror in Nikolaievsk.

MANY TIMES NEAR DEATH

Americans and British in Siberian Mining Camps Have Miraculous Escape From Massacre—Rescued by Chinese Gunboat.

Seattle, Wash.—With harrowing experiences and tales of terror, Mr and Mrs. E. H. Barker of Vancouver, B. C., arrived here, after three years amid the Bolsheviks of eastern Russia. For two months, as prisoners of the Bolshevik leader Ghiroloff and his wife, Nina, they lived in hourly peril of their lives, and were finally rescued, with sixteen other foreigners, by a Chinese gunboat.

Mr and Mrs. Barker set sail for Vladivostok in the latter part of March, 1917. They arrived in Nikolaievsk in June of the same year, and soon after Mr. Barker assumed the position of assistant manager of a mining camp in the Orsk gold fields belonging to a British company 50 miles from Nikolaievsk.

Nikolaievsk is a far cry from Petrograd, so the overthrow of the czar made little difference in the daily life at the mining camp on the Amur. In October, 1918, Admiral Kolchak took over the administration of that section, and soon after a Japanese garrison quietly took possession of Nikolaievsk. According to Mrs. Barker, it was after the overthrow of Kolchak that trouble began. One day Ghiroloff appeared at the head of a band of Bolsheviks and unceremoniously took over the mines. At the same time Reds overran Nikolaievsk territory. Reign of terror ensued, during which no one's life was safe.

Work of Vengeance.

In March last an arrangement was concluded between the Japanese garrison and the Reds, whereby the latter were to hand over their arms for one day, on which the Bolsheviks proposed to hold funeral services for their fallen soldiers. The day was set, but instead of fulfilling their part of the agreement the Japanese surrounded the headquarters of the Reds 24 hours before the exercises were to have been held and wiped out the entire headquarters staff of the Bolsheviks.

Next day the enraged Reds began their work of vengeance. Streets were strewn with bodies of slain Japanese.

Mrs. Barker said several attempts on their lives actually occurred, despite the fact that her husband was operating dredges under penalty of being shot for disobedience if he refused. On May 18 it was planned to massacre the entire Barker family. Kumanov, a Russian, who was at heart no Bolshevik sympathizer, frustrated this plan by placing an armed guard around the house.

The Reds continued their reign of merciless terror. Ghiroloff and his wife vied with each other in their diabolical plots and cruelties. A Mr. Dyer, an American manager of a gold plant, nearly became a victim because he insisted on wearing a white stiff collar. Dyer was thrown into jail, while the council quarreled among themselves as to whether he should be killed slowly in the public market place or shot outright by his wife. Dyer's life hung in the balance for three days, while his wife was on the point of collapse. Then the remaining officials of the mine went in a body to Red headquarters and prevailed upon Ghiroloff to release his prisoner.

Lives Threatened Many Times.

Time and again thereafter Mr. Barker said their lives were threatened. On May 23 the Bolsheviks decided to kill or torture every soul in the village. They had learned of the advance of Japanese troops, with reinforcements. The Bolsheviks burned the city to the ground, and then, destroying the mining camps, fled into the hills.

At this juncture the commander of a Chinese gunboat, which had been icebound in the Amur river during the winter, demanded that the foreigners be delivered to him. While the baggage and few valuables of the foreigners were being loaded into open boats three Bolshevik cutters came alongside and opened fire. A vigorous engagement followed. Luckily for the fugitives the Chinese were victorious.

The Chinese succeeded in landing the refugees at an obscure port, however, from which they soon left in a dismasted Japanese freighter.

They learned later that the Bolsheviks had returned to the city after the gunboat had left, and killed all the remaining Russian children at the mine, and carried off their mothers as slaves into the woods.

Survival Eating Chapul.

St. Mary's. On the ground that they are "eating the chapul" and squirrels at Kingman's country are being caught in a war of extermination. The women attend all functions at the chapel, entering through portals covered through solid timber of the granite setting. The entrances are being steadily enlarged. There have been no further reports for several months in Sept. 1919, F. Fisher's house.

Don't Serve in Forty Ways.

The date is the staple article of food in Korea, and a good one, there are perhaps more than 40 dishes in which it is used. It is so different.

Wherever men and women congregate the social, friendly drink is coffee. Nothing in the world takes the place of its tempting fragrance—its delectable, appetizing "bouquet."

MAKE STIR IN SUMMER COLONY

Three Wealthy Sportsmen Are Believed Part of Gang of Bank Robbers.

OWN POWERFUL CARS

Police With One of Men in Battle in Raid—Were Popular in Millionaire Resort—Launch Ready for Flight.

Algonac, Mich.—Six weeks ago a charming, stylishly dressed young woman, accompanied by three young men, drew up in Algonac in a big touring car and established themselves in a bungalow cottage in the midst of the millionaire summer colony. In a remarkably short time the vivacious young woman and her party had been "taken up" by the leaders of the elite and their bungalow became the center of the social life of the community.

Not only were they cultured, but they seemed to have an inexhaustible supply of money. They let it drop that they were oil promoters. The young woman was introduced as Mrs. Denmore. They entertained frequently and elaborately. In short, their functions became the talk of the town.

Own Powerful Motor Cars.

Their fast, powerful motor cars and large accounts in the Algonac banks were unnecessary guarantees of their wealth. Often the group would be gone over night on motor trips along southern Michigan and northern Ohio, but always they returned to Algonac.

A regatta scheduled for Labor day was one of the events of the season. Not to be outdone, the three young men went to Chicago and returned with a beautiful racing launch which they named the Emma, for one of the favorites of the colony. It was reported that this little investment alone set them back $11,000, but they received ample recompense by winning the feature event of the regatta—the ten-mile handicap—which brought them a huge silver loving cup.

It was while they were still celebrating this event, the climax of their social achievements, that the bubble burst. On a mysterious tip, the source of which has not been divulged, the police followed the three young men to Toledo, Ohio, and swooped down on their rendezvous. In the battle "Cowboy" Hill was killed and the other two young men, Archie Denison and Joseph Forest, were wounded. A search of the elaborately furnished

"Cowboy" Hill Was Killed.

bungalow in Algonac yielded a bit of burglars' tools and a checkman's outfit. The police say the three young men and the young woman are part of a gang which altogether has stolen more than $300,000 from the banks of Ohio and Michigan in the last six months. The money is said to have been placed in Algonac banks.

Launch Ready for Flight.

There is no evidence that the group operated in the lake shore district, where they spent their wealth. The police think they conducted their operations while making trips in the fast motor cars, and that the little boat, Emma, was tested in the regatta to see if it could outrun other boats if it was necessary to flee to Canada.

HE DISCOVERED A NEW DELICACY—and SO CAN YOU

IN Palermo, many years ago, a certain cook invented a new and succulent dish to please his master, a noble of high degree. As the tempting dainty—composed of long, white tubes—was placed before him, the nobleman cried "Caril! Caril!" (excellent). At the first taste "Ma caril!" (very excellent), and then devouring the whole dish, he rushed into the kitchen exclaiming "Ma caronil!" (most supremely excellent).

He had merely named macaroni. Today you can discover another delicacy—Spredit—and pronounce it, also, most supremely excellent. And eat it with your macaroni, too. Spredit is the delicious nut-butter that cuts your butter bills in half and gives double zest to any table in the land. Spredit—where you now spread butter.

CHINA TO HAVE NEW MONEY PLAN

Foreign Banks in the Republic Heretofore in Control of Her Currency.

MAKE PROFITS IN EXCHANGE

Charge Commissions Whenever the Coins of One City Are Changed for Those of Another—American's Interesting Experience.

New York.—The new currency system that is to be introduced in China in the near future will make a considerable difference to the foreign banks, mostly British, which have had control of the money circulated in the country for the last 50 years. Practically the only money made by the Chinese government was the "cash," as it was called, a brass coin with a hole in the center so that it could be carried on a string by the poorer classes, and valued at 1,000 to the Mexican dollar.

The system of exchange and commission by which the foreign banks were able to pay their stockholders from 40 to 50 per cent, with occasional handsome bonuses, was very simple. The nominal money in China was tael made of silver and shaped like a tiny wooden shoe. As taels were not in circulation in the country they were changed into Mexican dollars, so that the bank drew two commissions in cashing a draft or a letter of credit, one for changing it into taels and another for changing from taels into dollars.

Marking the Dollars.

Each port and city of any importance had its own particular manner of marking Mexican dollars except Hongkong and Shanghai, where they were circulated intact. At Foochow the dollar had a hole punched through the middle; at Amoy a piece was clipped from the side and it was known as a "chop" dollar, and at Swatow a stamp was made in the middle of the coin. These dollars were only good for their face value at the port or city to which they belonged, and a person taking a Foochow dollar to Amoy would have to pay a commission at the bank to have it exchanged for local currency, and the same thing occurred when he carried Amoy money to Swatow. No matter how often the Mexican dollar had to be changed the banks got their commission and the traveler paid.

A New York business man tested the plan by changing a $20 bill into Mexican dollars in Hongkong and then exchanging the money for local currency at each port going up the coast, and visiting Peking and Tientsin, Amoy, Swatow, Foochow and other places en route. By the time he reached Shanghai he had nothing left of his $20 bill, and had not spent a cent of it. The banks had taken it all in commissions on exchange.

Before the war the Mexican dollar was worth 53 to 55 cents in China, and at present, on account of the rise in the price of silver, the American dollar is worth about 90 cents in Hongkong and Shanghai in the local currency.

Handled by Chinamen.

Cash transactions in the banks throughout China are all handled by Chinamen, called compradors, who are bonded in amounts varying from $100,000 to $250,000, according to the status of the house and the amount of financial business transacted. The clerks, usually sent out from London, examine the drafts, checks or letters presented at the counter in the bank and, after initialing them for payment, the compradors hand out the money.

On account of the "chit" system, which means credit until the first of the month, the employees of the banks are usually in debt to the compradors, and in many cases when the time comes, at the end of five years' continuous service, to go home on six months' leave at full pay, the clerk is not able to go because he owes too much to the compradors and has to use his vacation money to pay his debts.

The Chinese compradors are well-educated men and speak English fluently. They gaze with surprise at a stranger who may address them in the old-fashioned pidgin English. After a moment's pause the compradors will explain, "Pardon me; I do not quite grasp your meaning. Do you wish to change some money?" Then the traveler, realizing that he has been "stung" by the hotel clerk who told him to talk that way, replies: "Oh, yes, please. I wish to draw some money upon my letter of credit," and the incident closes.

Fish Seven Inches Deep on Shore After High Tide

Scotoba, Mass.—Residents of the South Shore caught large quantities of fish without net, line or bait when thousands of spawning and adults were left by the tide on the beaches after business concerns had been driven ashore by higher tides. In many places the fish were seven inches deep. They were quite fresh and edible, and people came with buckets and automobiles to gather them.

PRESERVE PAINT ON SURFACE IN WASHINGMost Every Man Experiences Trouble With First Car.Great Care Must Be Exercised During First Month, Owing to Time Necessary for Varnish to Harden—Use Best Soaps.Most every man experiences considerable trouble with the paint on his first new car, due to the fact that it was not properly taken care of. Sometimes, however, after running the paint on one or two cars, learn how to keep the luster in the paint, but for the benefit of those who still do not know the secret the following instructions are given:Owing to the time required for varnish to harden, great care should be exercised in washing the car during the first few months in use.1. Before using new sponges and chamois skins clean them thoroughly with soap and water to remove sand and shells.2. Clean one panel at a time, thoroughly drying before cleaning the next. Never wash the engine hood while hot, and never use hot water on any part of the car.3. Mud should never be allowed to dry upon a newly varnished surface.
Wash off all mud as soon as possible.4. Use lots of water to clean your car. A sponge, thoroughly saturated, is much better than a hose. Always have sponge full of clean, fresh water and use no pressure when applying.5. Have two sponges—one for body, hood, etc., the other for the running gear. Keep sponge for body away from grease.6. In washing running gear use a soap solution made by dissolving in a pail of water sufficient soap to make a good suds. Sop on to car with sponge. Rinse immediately with clear water.If necessary to use soap on body, use only pure soap, such as imported castile, or the very best oil soaps made for use on automobiles. There must be no free alkali or acids in the soap, as these will eat the surface off the varnish.AUTOMOBILE
GOSSIPOperating the engine without sufficient water, or with no water at all, may result in injury to the spark plugs.Various substances may be used for tapping pistons, among them emery dust, ground glass and rotten stone.The private garage owner may be glad to know that ordinary commercial ammonia is a valuable fire extinguisher.A car owner who desires accuracy in his distance mileage should have the speedometer checked up at least once a year.Brown shellac mixed with graphite makes an admirable cement for pipe joints and connections which are subjected to heat and compression.Loose connection results in under-charged batteries. Hence it is essential that the driver see that wires always are kept tight to their fastenings.In case your motor will not start, don't keep flooding the carburetor.
Prime the motor by putting gas in the petcocks. If this doesn't work look for ignition.

HARDING BEGINS BIG CONFERENCES

Charles E. Hughes, Possibility for Secretary of State, Advances on Foreign and Domestic Problems at President-elect's House.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mar. 10, Dec. 10.—The first of the conferences which are expected to shape the international and domestic policies of the Harding administration was held here today. Charles Evans Hughes, standard-bearer of the Republican party in 1916, arrived early this morning to discuss with President-elect Harding the pressing questions which face the new chief executive.

The distinguished visitor was driven at once to the Harding home, where he joined Senator and Mrs. Harding for breakfast.

Then the two leaders sat down together to talk over in detail conditions both at home and abroad. Hughes is the first of the men and women prominent in national affairs expected to come to Mar. 10 to aid Senator Harding with counsel and advice. He will be followed Sunday by Herbert Hoover. Ethel Root and William Howard Taft are expected before the end of next week, while Senators Hittcock and Childs from the Democratic ranks are also scheduled for the near future.

Developments in world politics, especially at Geneva, have lent added importance to the Hughes visit. He has been a deep student of the league of nations and his attitude toward that covenant is said likely to approach that of Senator Harding in many respects.

Senator Harding, it is said, places great confidence not only in his opinion as an international lawyer but in his ability to untangle complicated questions of economics and finance. For it is known that the conference here will deal with domestic as well as foreign problems. This has been clearly indicated by the close study made by the president-elect of the report of the secretary of the treasury and the deliberations of the house ways and means committee and of industrial conditions throughout the country.

Hughes is regarded by many in close touch with Senator Harding not only as an adviser and party leader, but as a cabinet possibility. They declare that his record as governor of New York, as a justice of the supreme court of the United States, and as Republican candidate for president would make him valuable and widely acceptable as secretary of state. In addition to this "background," they assert his views on many questions coincide closely with those of the man who will occupy the presidential chair for the next four years.

Senator Harding, who plowed through a tremendous amount of accumulative correspondence yesterday, sought relief last night in a brisk walk, a lone Christmas shopping excursion and a visit to the Marion Club, where he chatted with old friends who are accustomed to gather there.

Get The Grinding Habit

If a food expert came along and outlined a plan to you whereby you could save from 15 to 20 per cent of the food you and your family have been in the habit of eating—if he outlined such a plan which would not necessitate any sacrifice on your part, you'd follow it, wouldn't you?

While we won't attempt to tell you how you and your family can do more cheaply, we will, however, undertake to outline a very simple plan whereby you can save from 15 to 20 per cent of the food ordinarily eaten by your five children, involving no sacrifice to the family. It is just this—GRIND YOUR OWN!

Ground food is widely quoted as the best food value for the money and is most economical. It is easy to make and can be done in your own home. The saving comes from grinding whole food, as it is not necessary to buy it in small quantities, which means the purchase of whole food that goes through the intestinal tract undigested.

HELD CAPTIVE FOR 16 YEARS

Rich Philadelphia Man Is Sequestered by His Nephew.

HOME ALLOWED TO SEE HIM

Relative Now Claims That Property Has Been Disposed of by Nephew and Sues the Appointment of a Guardian. — Wealthy Manufacturer Disappeared One Day in 1904—Now Penniless and Dependent on Gifts of Nephew to Whom He Bequeathed His Property.

One night in 1904 George Griffiths, a wealthy manufacturer, who lived at No. 2102 Spruce street, Philadelphia, retired after he had been seen and greeted by associates during the day and had returned their greetings in his usual manner. The next morning he was gone, and for sixteen years he dropped out of sight.

The other day it was declared in a court action that, aged, helpless and blind, he is still alive, but sequestered at Wayne, under the constant attendance of a male nurse, penniless and dependent on the gifts of a nephew-in-law, Louis L. Reichner, to whom it is alleged he bequeathed his property, worth more than $150,000.

Former Judge James Gay Gordon in common pleas as counsel for Mrs. J. H. Kurtz of Elkins Park and a niece of Griffiths applied for the appointment of a guardian for the old man. He told of finding Mr. Griffiths at No. 300 West Wayne avenue, Wayne, last spring. Recalling Mr. Griffiths' death of his property he told of the refusal of the nephew-in-law to make known the whereabouts of the vanished manufacturer while he was shifted from one residence to another, some of which were leased by the nephew and others being sanitariums and asylums for the insane.

Asks for a Guardian.
In his petition Judge Gordon asked for the appointment of a guardian to protect Mr. Griffiths. He told of the honorable record Mr. Griffith had up to the time of his disappearance. He was prominently identified with the First Presbyterian church at Seventh street and Washington square. He built the Albert Barnes Memorial at a cost of more than $50,000 in honor of a former pastor. At the time of his disappearance he was treasurer of the Christian league, of which he was a founder. He was then sixty-three years old.

"From investigations which were made by Mr. Scott and myself last spring, when we succeeded in locating Mr. Griffiths," said Judge Gordon, "we were able to learn that when Mr. Griffiths disappeared in 1904 he was taken to Felcroft, a hospital for the insane in Delaware county.

"It will be shown that up to the day he disappeared Mr. Griffiths' health was good. It will be shown that his brother Joseph, father of the petitioner, had made inquiries of Attorney Louis L. Reichner as to where his brother was, and the only satisfaction he received was to be told that Griffiths had been ill but was being taken care of and was doing well, but he could not be seen except upon the order of his doctor.

Property Disposed Of.
"Joseph Griffiths is now dead, but from evidence in our possession we expect to show that when he became insistent in his inquiries he was taken to Felcroft by Attorney Reichner, who took him on a long walk, and coming in view of a large building Reichner pointed to a man who could be seen on the porch and said: 'That is your brother; but don't try to attract his attention or speak to him.'

"We will show that Joseph Griffiths, after seeing his brother on this occasion, never saw him again, and that no other member of the family laid eyes on him for sixteen years. We will show that during this time Mr. Griffiths had parted with all his property, giving to Louis F. Reichner his entire estate. We will show that this man Reichner has sold house after house and virtually disposed of the entire estate."

FAKE INVENTOR IN JAIL

Used Hidden Barrels of Alcohol to Make Substituted Motor Fuel Work. A formula designed to "revolutionize" the motor fuel industry by mixing corn stalks, cane sugar and yeast as a substitute for gasoline worked because the inventor, Prof. F. John Charlier of Brooklyn, N. Y., had two barrels of alcohol hidden behind the wall and connected by a pipe to a tank containing the apparatus. Charlier's arrest followed an investigation by the district attorney's office of a complaint of a delegation representing 200 persons from the East side, who said they had invested in stock in a company said to have been formed for the manufacture of the substitute motor fuel.

Out Once 600 Miles in Wheel. A kitten curled inside the rim of a big bicycle at the Great Northern Mills at Burlington, Vt., and sat asleep. The mill got into mischief and the giant machinery was set to motion. The wheel whirled about with the kitten inside for nine hours, held to the pulleys pointing by the running of the wheel. The kitten was still alive when the machinery was stopped for the night. It was estimated it traveled 600 miles.

LUXEMBURG REPRESENTED AT WASHINGTON

Luxemburg, latest and smallest of the countries of the world to send a diplomatic representative to the United States, has a ruler with a better popular title to her throne than perhaps any other reigning monarch.

Though the little grand duchy is smaller even than Rhode Island, it has a history reaching farther into the past than many of the great nations among which it now takes a place. It has been buffeted about like a shuttlecock by the countries that hem it in, and at one time or another during the past thousand years has been under the control of nearly every one of the principal nations of the western part of the continent.

While a part of the Holy Empire, Luxemburg furnished an emperor for the German throne. Count Henry IV of Luxemburg was elected to that position in 1085 as Henry VII. Luxemburg later came under the control of Burgundy and then fell successively to Spain, Austria and the first French republic. It remained under the sovereignty of the king of the Netherlands from 1815 to the accession of Queen Wilhelmina in 1890, when the existence of the Sallé law—that anti-feminist outburst of the old warrior Franks—brought the grand duke of Nassau to the throne.

Even while the king of the Netherlands was sovereign of Luxemburg, it was a member of the German confederation, with the city of Luxemburg garrisoned by Prussian soldiers. Retention of this garrison in the city after the division of old Luxemburg between Holland and Belgium in 1831, and especially after the dissolution of the German confederation in 1866, almost caused the Franco-Prussian war to start three years ahead of time. The matter was compromised by an agreement for the withdrawal of the German troops, and the demolition of the fortifications of the city of Luxemburg, so strong that the fortress was known as "the Gibraltar of the North." In addition the grand duchy was set up as an independent state with its neutrality guaranteed, like that of Belgium, by the powers. This guarantee was one of the "scraps of paper" of 1814.

During the World war Luxemburg was practically a prisoner to Germany, but because the inhabitants did not resist, the Germans treated them with a certain degree of consideration. The sympathies of the people were with France, however, and several thousand Luxemburgians served with the tricolor. This popular sympathy for France and the belief that the reigning Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, had pro-German leanings made her unpopular. After the armistice brought about the retirement of the Germans, a bloodless revolution broke out, and Luxemburg added another to its long list of sovereignties by being a republic for a few brief hours. Conservative elements brought about the abdication of the grand duchess in favor of her sister Charlotte, the present ruler, and by liberalizing the constitution, Marie Adelaide has entered a convent and become a Carmelite nun.

BRUSSELS: CAPITAL CITY OF THE LAND OF THE LOOM

Brussels, conspicuous during the war, again became a center of world attention with the meeting there of the international financial congress.

Brussels' fame rests partly on popular misapprehensions.

Its name is linked with a carpet that is not made there, and also with a cathedral which, properly speaking, is not a cathedral at all but a church—that of St. Gudule.

But even after deducting this much from Brussels' credit, enough remains to give it a foremost place among world capitals. Were the romantic adventures of the city cast into a "novel" scenario, the title might accurately be "From Swamp Dwelling to Petit Paris."

The seventh century village on the Senne, near the center of what now is Belgium, was called Brueselle, literally "swamp dwelling," with descriptive intent. The genius of a people for making much of meager physical circumstances fully warrants the nickname often given the modern city of parks, boulevards, art galleries and a famous university.

Suffering was no new experience for Brussels. More than three centuries earlier its great square had seen Count Egmont and Count Horn walk to the scaffold, as the former recited the fifty-first Psalm, and a little later both heads were displayed to the assembled multitude on iron spikes. More gruesome still, both heads finally were boxed and sent to Philip II of Spain so that latter-day Herod might exult at another victory over his northern subjects.

Though the Brussels carpet of modern times is not made in Belgium, Brussels was paid a deserved tribute in its naming, for when it first was manufactured at Wilton, England, the product was patterned after the tapestries for which Brussels was famous for centuries.

In addition to its weaving Brussels gained renown for its lace-making, and its needle-made lace still find their way all over the civilized world, including a considerable quantity to the United States. The feminine culture of fond times sought to express in the delicate designs of flimsy fabric what men wrought in the lace-like architecture of its cathedrals.

MEXICO CITY: THE ROME OF THE AMERICAS

"In all the world one cannot find a more remarkable capital than Mexico City," says William Joseph Shaw, in a communication to the National Geographic society.

Situated in a valley whose floor is a mile and a half above the level of the sea, and whose borders are surrounded by towering mountains; located where the beautiful volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, rear snow-capped heads above the plain and stand eternal guard over it, its situation is one of rare beauty and grandeur. Its climate is mild, the temperature ranging from 35 to 70 degrees, with a mean of 65 degrees. No man sleeps without a blanket in Mexico City, nor needs an overcoat at midday.

"Prior to the conquest the lakes of the Mexican valley were extensive and the barges of the Aztecs sailed uninterruptedly from the gates of Chapultepec to Ixtapalapa. A large number of canals intersected the ancient metropolis of Tenochtitlan and connected with the lakes in the suburbs, making it a sort of new world Venice."

In 1507 the celebrated Portuguese engineer Martinez undertook to drain the Valley of Mexico by cutting a canal through the mountains. The work, however, was largely a failure, since it drained only one small lake and an unimportant river, leaving lakes Texcoco and Chalco still perpetual menaces to the city.

In 1879 a huge drainage canal 30 miles long was begun, which was completed in 1900, at a cost of about $3,000,000, American gold. Its completion removed the danger of inundations from Mexico City and solved the problem which occupied the thoughts and engendered the fears of the Aztecs as far back as 1440.

"Mexico City is the most complete mixture of the ancient and the modern to be found in the new world. The old city might date anywhere from the tenth century, from its appearance. The new city is ultra modern, and you step from the sixteenth to the twentieth century by walking across the street."

"The parade ground of Mexico City is the Avenida de San Francisco. This short street extends from the Mexican White House to the Alameda, and is only about 24 feet from curb to curb. Here, at the approach of twilight, every smart equipage in the capital comes. Down the one side of the street and up the other side moves the procession at a slow walk, while everybody looks at everybody else.

"An Avenida de San Francisco unites the old and the new cities, so does the Cinco de Mayo (Fifth of May) unite the cathedral, stateliest of all the religious edifices on the continent, with the National theater, which was planned to be the most beautiful of all the amusement places in America. The Cinco de Mayo is the Wall street of Mexico, and the buildings which line it are modern in every respect.

"The Paseo de la Reforma, extending from Chapultepec to the Avenida de Juarez, a short avenue connecting the Paseo with Avenida de San Francisco, is one of the finest driveways of the world.

"The national pawnshop is one of the unique institutions of the capital. It was founded by Pedro Jose Romero de Terreros."

HOW GEOGRAPHY SHAPES ITALY'S DESTINY

Italy's peculiar geographic position always has been one of the chief sources of the country's remarkable individuality—an individuality marked by its political and economic course since the armistice was signed. Arthur Stanley Riggs, writing to the National Geographic society in this regard, says:

"From the beginning Nature set Italy apart. Every boundary is perfectly clear. The historic sea enfolds it to the south, east and west. On the north the terrific Alps sweep around it in a great semicircle from Mediterranean to Adriatic, closing the circuit. To be sure, from the time of Augustus the boundary of each side of northern Italy has been juggled, now to the east, now to the west, by politics; but the physical boundary is still definitely there. So thoroughly did the ancient chroniclers recognize these natural limits that long before the name of Italy had any political significance or entity the writers applied it to the country thus inclosed. The peninsula, with its tremendous Apennine backbone, makes a huge boot which thrusts out practically into the center of the great midland sea.

Necessarily, then, Italy was exposed to attack and invasion from three sides. Indeed, it was the invading, or rather colonizing, Greek who combined with the aborigine to form the population that stocked the peninsula. Taken in a smaller way, geographical site or position exercised no less distinct an effect upon some of the foremost Italian cities; and in shaping their affairs and men it also influenced the entire world.

"After forming this basin—northern Italy—the Apennines sweep southward in a rugged backbone which determines the whole internal geography of the country as definitely as the Alps do its outline northward.

"In central Italy, west of the mountains, the valleys of the Arno and the Tiber—the only streams of importance—give the keynote to any geographic study of the region. Over on the eastern coast no rivers of importance can exist, because the mountains there approach too close to the sea, though the tortuous, mostly dry beds of the 'torrents' scar every height.

"In this connection it is interesting to note that nowhere is the peninsula more than 150 miles wide, and generally not more than 100, while down in Calabria the width dwindles in two places to 35 and 20 miles respectively. One of the most inspiring views in the whole length of the country also displays this narrowness strikingly when, on a clear day, from the Gran Sasso, the highest point in the bleak Abruzzi range, central Italy, at nearly 10,000 feet, one may look not only eastward over the Adriatic to far Belmama's rocky shores, but also westward over the mountain and moor, city and sandy coast, to the dim and misty blue of the Tyrrhenian sea. In volcanic southern Italy, likewise barren of any great waterways, the Apennines break up into groups of hills and peaks, not usually so lofty as farther northward.

"As in the case of Japan, the surrounding sea makes a vast difference in the Italian climate. Judged by its position alone, the peninsula should be about the hottest part of Europe—it is only 90 miles from the southern shore of Sicily to Africa. But the twin seas and the ever snow-capped mountains temper the heat, and the regional peculiarities are such that we find Turin, for instance, colder in winter than Copenhagen, and Milan as warm in summer as Naples."

A VOLCANIC BARNUM AND BAILEY

Young America will drop anything to run to a fire. In some parts of the world—Hawaii, for example—one also drops everything to run to a volcano eruption, unless he already is too close for comfort. Then he runs from it.

Have you ever wondered what a volcano, in action, looks like? Here is a description, not by a scientist, but by a young Washington woman who went to Hawaii to live just before Mauna Loa's terrific eruption last year:

"It seems as if Hawaii, though small, must have just so much attention, and so ever so often she explosively projects herself into the arena of the world's happenings," wrote Mrs. Shirley Foster Allen. "Not content with her share in the 'Big Show' in Europe, she decided to stage a first-class side show all her own—and the two volcanoes, Mauna Loa and Kilauea, have certainly done their best to make it the 'biggest show on earth."

"Just a word about the geography of the place. In the first place so many people seem to think the word 'Hawaii' embraces all there is to the islands; and in the second place, the general conception seems to be that the volcano is located in Honolulu's back yard, as it were, and that we Honoluluans take our daily exercise by running up to the crater every morning before breakfast. Honolulu is located on the Island of Oahu, third island in size in the group, while the volcano, or rather volcanoes, are located on Hawaii, the largest and youngest island, with an area of more than 4,000 square miles, which has nearly 200 miles southeast of Oahu.

"The first indication of volcanic activity was the presence of a peculiar cauliflower-shaped cloud hanging over the mountain. Three days later, on September 20, the whole heavens were lit up with an apricot glow when, from a huge vent in the mountain's side, a flood of molten lava was belched forth. Spreading out into a great shallow stream, it came roaring down the mountain slope, burning forests, carrying huge trees and immense boulders on its surface—sweeping everything before it. With a speed varying from one to twenty miles an hour, according to the country it was passing over, it broadened out until it was nearly a mile in width. After wiping out the government belt road, razing telephone poles and destroying a vast amount of property, the red-hot lava tumbled over a high precipice and plunged hissing into the sea.

"A number of excursions were made in October from Honolulu, and, in approaching the flow from the sea in the early evening, the glow from the lava was visible for many miles before Alika was reached.

"Drifting within 200 yards of the point where the liquid rock was rushing into the sea, the scene stretching before one was awe-inspiring. Slowly the smoky haze, from the burning forests, which hung over the source 20 miles away, lifted and the river of fire stood out in its full glory, holding one speechless and spellbound. Leaping from pall to valley, rushing up hill and roaring down, the fiery flood thundered down the mountain slope, carrying on its bosom rocks as big as houses that were tossed about as if they were mere pebbles. As the stream of blazing lava neared the coastline, it appeared to gather more speed, taking a final plunge over a 100-foot cliff at a terrific rate, and looking for all the world like a fiery Niagara. As the red-hot lava came in contact with the water, great columns of steam and gas, like huge water-sprouts, were forced hundreds of feet into the air. Huge boulders, hurled into space, exploded with thunderous reports into suras of red and green lights, while flashes of what looked like lightning added to the chaos."

Knut Hamsun, winner of the Nobel literature prize for 1920, was a conductor on a Chicago lake car line and was fired from that job because he could not remember the names of streets. That was forty years ago. Today, after winning the $50,000 Nobel prize, he is acclaimed as the greatest fiction writer of Scandinavia. While in this country Hamsun worked as a dishwasher, house-painter, conductor and lumber-jack. He is a Norwegian, 60 years old, and is now living on his estate in Norway.

KELLY'S ACTIONS DIE A MORNING

Continued from page 1. The jury in the case of Kelly vs. The Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company, which was held in the Supreme Court this morning, found in favor of the company. The jury found that Kelly's actions were not justified and that the company was not liable for the loss. The case was heard by Judge Jenkins, who presided over the trial. The jury's decision was a surprise to many, as Kelly's actions were widely publicized and many believed that the company was liable.

ARRANGE DAYLIGHT SAVING'S DEATH

New York, Dec. 10.—The daylight saving law will be repealed by the next legislature and the governor will approve it. This announcement was made by Governor George A. Gurnea, of the Republican state committee, today, after a conference with up-state Republican leaders. Assemblyman Charles E. Smith gave notice that he would, on the first day of the session, re-introduce the bill vetoed by Governor Smith, and push it to final passage. State Commissioner Philip H. Hing said: "But for the recentment of Governor Smith for his veto, Governor Smith might have been re-elected. Thousands of Democratic farmers voted the straight Republican ticket to punish Smith."

LOCKWOOD

In sad and loving memory of our darling daughter and sister, Martha Allen, who died December 10, 1919. THE ALLEN FAMILY.

In memorial of the late Mrs. Anna A. Fischer, who departed this life Wednesday, December 10, 1919. The golden gates were opened wide. A gentle voice said come. And angels from the other side. Welcomed our dear mother home. Gone but not forgotten.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

In loving memory of William H. Utter, Jr., who died two years ago today.

I cannot say, and I will not say. That he is dead. He is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand. He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be, since he lingers there. And you—Oh you, who the wildest roam. For the old time step and the glad return.

Think of him faring on, as dear. In the love of there, as the love of here. Think of him still as the same. I say. He is not dead, he is just away.

MOTHER.

In sad and loving memory of our dear, beloved daughter, Ida, who was called away to rest two years ago today, December 10, 1918. Her husband, Harry F. Dillinger, was called six weeks before, October 29, 1918. Our hearts are sad and lonely. Our grief too deep to tell. But time will come, we know not when. That we will meet her once again.

That we will meet her once again. Mrs. Ida and Harry Dillinger left a little son, Theron E. Dillinger, and their daughter, Marion A. Dillinger, and two brothers, Clarence and Harold Dillinger, her father and mother.

WILSON ACCEPTS NOBEL PRIZE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 10.—President Wilson today cabled his acceptance of the Nobel peace prize. The president directed the American minister at Norway to accept the award of the committee on his behalf. Announcement of the award of the Nobel prize to the president was expected to be made in Christiania today.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Leon H. Lockwood died in New York city today. Notice of funeral will be given later.

Mrs. Frederick Short died suddenly Wednesday evening at her home in Saugerties. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Frances and Dorothy. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Shufeldt of Woodstock and three sisters also survive.

Franklin P. Lasher, a former resident of Saugerties, died Wednesday at his home in Bound Brook, N. J. He was 74 years of age. Surviving are his wife, three daughters, one son, two sisters, Mrs. William E. Persons of Albany, and Mrs. George Jansen of Saugerties, and two brothers, Charles of Rensselaer and John of Saugerties.

The funeral of Mary L. Richardson was held at the residence, 168 Main street, this afternoon, and was private. She was a sister of the late Mrs. John Pettit and is survived by two nieces, Mrs. C. B. Jansen and Mrs. Walter Darling and by three grand nieces, Mrs. E. Van Wort of Springfield, Mass., and Grace E. and Mary Emma Jansen. The services were conducted by the Rev. A. S. Cole and the interment was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Miss Jane McKee died on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her brother-in-law Edward Fitch in New Paltz, aged 69 years. She had not been well for a short time, but her illness was not supposed to be serious and she had been around in the house, less than half an hour before her death. She leaves two brothers, Cyrus McKee of High Falls and Seymour McKee of Middletown, N. Y. Funeral was held at the late residence on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Benjamin Giles, aged 73 years died Monday morning at his home in Shokan. He was born in Shandaken July 31, 1847, the son of the late James and Sally Giles. He had been a resident of Shokan over 50 years. Five years ago he suffered a stroke which left him partly paralyzed and for the past two years he had been confined to his room. He is survived by his wife, Adalida, four sons, George A. James and Charles of Shokan and William V. of Poughkeepsie, and two daughters, Elizabeth, at home, and Mrs. William E. Wardell of Poughkeepsie; also four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at his late residence. The Rev. Frank Blanchard of the Rhinebeck Reformed Church officiated. Interment in Tongore cemetery.

Pearl Burkhardt, wife of Norman R. Dillinger, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., died early this morning at the Benedictine Sanitarium where she underwent a serious operation about ten days ago and since which time everything that medical skill and science could do was done but to no avail. In the death of Mrs. Dillinger this community loses a young woman who during the little over two years that she has resided in this city had endeared herself to a host of friends who will be deeply grieved to hear of her death. Possessing a charming personality and of a kindly, and most generous disposition she quickly made friends with all who came in contact with her and she was the life and center of any gathering. Besides a devoted husband, Mrs. Dillinger leaves a little daughter, Betty Jane only two and a half years old and who already gives evidence of having inherited many of the charms of her young mother. Mrs. Dillinger was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Burkhardt of Monaca, Washington county, Pa., who with two sisters, Fern and Helen and one brother, Harry, still reside in Monaca where the body will be taken and laid to rest near her relatives and friends and among the hills of Pennsylvania that Mrs. Dillinger loved so well.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 10.—Pressure continued to be exerted against the stock market at the opening today, man stocks being offered at concessions of from fractions to over 2 points and slumping to the lowest figures touched this year. Baldwin Locomotive was in heavy supply, yielding to a new low figure for the year of $9 1/4, a decline of 2 1/4. Crucible Steel dropped 1 point to $8 1/4 and Steel Common receded fractionally to $8. White Motors opened up 3 points at $4, but dropped to 3 1/4 in the next few sales. Southern Pacific was again in supply and fell 1/2 to $9. The shipping stocks were again weak. Atlantic Gulf falling 2 points to 108 1/2 and Marine Preferred fell 1/4 to 50 1/2. Reading yielded 1 1/4 to 85 1/2. New Haven opened down 1/4 to 18 1/2. Texas Pacific Coal and Oil was ex 1/4 in cash and 1-5 in stock, in all about 1 point, and it opened at 35 1/2, an advance of 1/2. Mexican Petroleum dropped 1 1/2 to 162 and Pan-American fell 1 point to 77 1/2.

After the initial declines the market developed a steadier tone and there were rallies in some issues. Mexican Petroleum advanced 3/4 to 164 1/2, but did not hold the rally and was in supply again after this price was touched. Baldwin Locomotive rallied to 90 1/2 and then started on another decline. Similar advances occurred in other stocks that had declined in the early trading, Atlantic Gulf and Reading both making substantial improvement from the low figures. Steel Common yielded from 80 1/4 to 79 1/2. Prices of many stocks down sharply were followed in the afternoon by a good rally. Steel Common after selling down to 79 1/2, rose 1 point. Pan-American Petroleum after selling at 77 1/2, rose to 79 1/2.

The stock market closed steady today. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.
